

31 May-3 Jun, 2015

www.wcri2015.org

Brazil, Rio de Janeiro

Doctoral Forum Participants

Doctoral Student	Country	Institution	Topic
Godecharle, Simon	Belgium	University of Leuven	Institutional and national misconduct policies
Hartgerink, Chris	Netherlands	Tilburg University	Detecting potential data fabrication in the social sciences
Shamseer, Larissa	Canada	University of Ottawa	Improving the reporting of systematic review protocols
Tijdink, J. K.	Netherlands	VU University Med Cntr	Publication culture: Survey approach
van den Bogert, Sander	Netherlands	Utrecht University	Occurrence and determinants of selective reporting: Inception cohort study of clinical drug trials in the Netherlands
Damasio, Edilson	Brazil	Federal University of Rio de Janeiro	Perception, knowledge and identification of plagiarism: A study with editor-in-chiefs of SciELO journals
O'Brien, Nolan	Ireland	University College Dublin	Bounded rationality and the decision-making of research ethics committees in the Republic of Ireland: A comparative case study
Santos, Christiane C	Brazil	Federal University of Rio de Janeiro	Investigating the Concept and Attitudes of High School Science Teachers toward Plagiarism among Students in Brazil— Implications for Science Policy?
Faria, Rita	Poland	University of Porto	Three-tier study of misconduct in research, mostly from a sociological perspective although she is teaching in criminology
Pan, Sophia Jui-An	Taiwan	National Chiao Tung University	Study of impact of the Third-Person Effect on Taiwanese graduate students in the wake of the Sage case